ARTIST'S VIEW OF JAPANESE-AMERICAN INTERNMENT

HON. JIM McDERMOTT

OF WASHINGTON

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, June 20, 1995

Mr. McDermott. Mr. Speaker, I would like to draw your attention to a unique exhibit, featuring works by internationally renowned artist Kenjiro Nomura, on display in the Cannon Rotunda, until June 23, 1995.

The exhibit, "Kenjiro Nomura: An Artist's View of the Japanese-American Internment," consists of sketches and paintings produced by the artist while interned during World War II at the Minidoka Relocation Center in Hunt, ID. Like other Japanese-Americans, Mr. Nomura and his family lost their freedom, home, possessions, and business when they were uprooted from their home in Seattle, WA, and herded off to internment camps.

Under orders not to depict camp life in a negative way, Nomura, who worked as a sign painter during his internment, used Government-issue paints, crayons, and paper to create a diary of his internment ordeal. His paintings done in oil or watercolor on mostly yellowish paper are the artist's record of proud people living in the harsh conditions of internment.

I encourage you to take a moment to view these remarkably poignant works of art.

I wish to thank June Mukai McKivor, Mr. Nomura's niece and art scholar in Seattle, who is responsible for recognizing the historical significance of these paintings and for organizing them into a traveling exhibit.

TRIBUTE TO DR. SELINA SMITH: ADVOCATE AND EDUCATOR

HON. CARRIE P. MEEK

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, June 20, 1995

Mrs. MEEK of Florida. Mr. Speaker, it gives me great pleasure to rise today to recognize a truly remarkable woman. Dr. Selina Smith is a nutritionist who has dedicated 15 years to furthering research which links dietary habits to breast and cervical cancer. Her tenure in academia, the American Cancer Society, and the Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center will have long-range impact on the lives of an estimated 13,500 women stricken with cancer every year.

Dr. Smith's recent endeavors include a free clinic at the Rainbow Village housing complex in Overtown which provides free breast and cervical screenings to poor women. Additionally, Dr. Smith currently hosts and produces "Witnessing," a 12-part cable program aimed at informing highly at-risk populations of breast and cervical cancer.

"Witnessing" and the free screening clinic in Overtown are the latest attempts at health care outreach to traditionally underserved women in Dade County. Her work is of utmost importance in the African-American community where mortality rates for breast and cervical cancer far exceed the mortality rates within other communities.

Mr. Speaker, Dr. Smith is also a cancer survivor. Seven of ten women in her family have been afflicted by breast cancer. Dr. Smith, herself, is currently receiving chemotherapy treatments. Perhaps, it is because this disease has affected Dr. Smith's life with such frequency and proximity that she is able to be such an exemplary advocate and educator for women at risk and women with cancer.

Dr. Smith knows that cancer is beatable. Her self-described mission is encapsulated in the following quote: "Hopefully, women will see me and not equate cancer with death. Hopefully, I can ease some of the fears." Dr. Smith's efforts at educating and empowering women will greatly reduce the chances of cancer affecting the lives of someone we know. Mr. Speaker, I congratulate Dr. Selina Smith for her achievements, and I urge my colleagues to join me in recognition and enthusiastic support of this truly courageous and inspiring woman.

A TRIBUTE TO DR. RAYMOND SCHULTZE

HON. JERRY LEWIS

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, June 20, 1995

Mr. LEWIS of California. Mr. Speaker, I would like to bring to your attention the fine work and outstanding public service of Dr. Raymond Schultze of Tarzana, CA. Dr. Schultze, a dedicated medical professional, is retiring after 36 years of service to UCLA.

Dr. Schultze received his bachelor's and medical degrees from Washington University in St. Louis and was twice selected as a U.S. Public Health Fellow. He first came to UCLA in 1959 for his internship and residency and has served in a wide variety of roles over the years including chief of UCLA's Division of Nephrology, executive vice chairman of UCLA's Department of Medicine, and associate dean for administration of the UCLA School of Medicine. From 1986 to 1991, Dr. Schultze served the UCLA campus as its administrative vice chancellor while concurrently serving as director of the medical center.

In his 15 years as director of one of America's finest hospitals, Dr. Schultze has guided the institution through the ever-changing health care environment to a position of international prominence. Dr. Schultze's distinctive combination of business acumen, medical knowledge, commitment to the community, and concern for patients have been crucial components in the UCLA Medical Center being consistently ranked in surveys as the best hospital in the West.

Whether testifying before the Senate Finance Committee on the impact of managed care on teaching hospitals, meeting with a small group of UCLA Medical Center nurses to hear their suggestions for improving patient-focused care, consulting with hospital directors in western Africa, or leading UCLA's effort to trim the budget while improving the quality of patient care—Dr. Schultze has demonstrated his willingness to improving health care at UCLA, in the United States, and around the world.

Mr. Speaker, running a large academic medical center in today's marketplace is a tremendously challenging task. Throughout his remarkable career, Dr. Raymond Schultze has provided outstanding leadership, skill, and expertise leaving a rich legacy for the future of the UCLA Medical Center. I ask that you join me, our colleagues, and Dr. Schultze's friends and family in recognizing his fine achievements and selfless contributions. He has touched the lives of many people and it is only fitting that the House of Representatives recognize him today.
